

The Nautilus

Volume VI Spring 2015

EDITORIAL	5
ESSAYS
“The Church of the Abandoned Christ: David Peace’s Red Riding Quartet and the Wreck of the White Ship ,” John H. Baker	7
“Almost a Sailor: Sailor-Slave Hybridity in Olaudah Equiano’s The Interesting Narrative ,” Dan Walden	32
“‘She Became a Ship Passing in the Night’: Charting Virginia Woolf’s The Voyage Out ,” Elizabeth Wright, Richard J. King, and Christie Jackson	55
BOOK REVIEWS
Homer. The Odyssey , translated by Stephen Mitchell. 94 The Odyssey: A Graphic Novel , by Gareth Hinds. Reviewed by Faye Ringel.
These Islands, We Sing: An Anthology of Scottish Islands Poetry , edited by Kevin MacNeil. Reviewed by Corey E. Andrews.	97
Rescue of the Bounty: Disaster and Survival in Superstorm Sandy , by Michael J. Tougias and Douglas A. Campbell. Reviewed by Ellen L. Madison.	100
Heart of Darkness , by Joseph Conrad. Illustrated by Matt Kish. Reviewed by Jason Hine.	103
Between Land and Sea: The Atlantic Coast and the Transformation of New England , by Christopher L. Pastore. Reviewed by Bob Madison.	107
Jack London: An American Life , by Earle Labor. Reviewed by Anita Duneer.	110
Writing the Seaman’s Tale in Law and Literature: Dana, Melville, and Justice Story , by Kathryn Mudgett. Reviewed by Hugh Egan.	114
Making Waves: Memoir of a Marine Botanist , by Marilyn Miler Harlin. Reviewed by Bob Madison.	119
Living with Whales: Documents and Oral Histories of Native New England Whaling History , edited by Nancy Shoemaker. Reviewed by Kathryn Mudgett.	122